NWC LIBRARY PROXY

EXTERNAL DATABASE ACCESS SYSTEM

Library Proxy System gives Naval War College staff, faculty, and students external access to databases that the library subscribes to.

- The username will remain the same, but the password will change every 6 months; beginning November 2005
- Passwords will change in May and November of each year.

To access the Library Proxy system, write down this URL and make a shortcut on your home computer system...

http://www.nwc.navy.mil/LIBDB/dblinks/ezlibremotedefualt.htm

Note that this link does not work correctly from "inside" the NWC; when you are logged onto a government computer; it only works remotely. Once you have clicked on your target database, you will be prompted for login.

The current login is:

See NWC Intranet

Username and password are case sensitive.

This "generic" login information does not protect a DOD network but it does protect the intellectual property of the commercial databases and is NOT to be transferred to any other party. You are authorized to use this system while employed by the Naval War College, or attending the Naval War College as a resident or distance education student.
